Applications for potential PGCE training for Academic year 2016-17

For many years, the British School has supported individuals wishing to train as teachers in Riyadh. This has been done in partnership with Sunderland University. We are very committed to continuing to extend this service to the local community and hence invite potential candidates to apply to the Principal to be considered for the academic year 2017-18.

There are some essential criteria that must be fulfilled before an application would be considered and these are:

1. You must hold a degree relevant to the section you wish to train in from a recognised university. This would mean for example that a person wishing to train in Secondary Maths should have a Maths degree or a degree with a heavy Maths content e.g. engineering. There are some exceptions to this and you should contact Sunderland directly for clarification as they will be the final arbiter in this matter. A person wishing to train in Primary has more flexibility as almost all degrees would be considered.
2. Your proficiency in spoken and written English must be very good. You will need to prove this through presenting a qualification to show you have achieved an acceptable standard e.g. a UK GCSE certificate (grade C-A*) or at least a score of 6.5 (but preferably higher) in the IELTS.
3. You must be able to deliver lessons in English.
4. You must have GCSE Maths at grade C-A* or a similar qualification.
5. Primary candidates must hold a GCSE in Science (whilst not necessary for the Sunderland course, it is a requirement for QTS)
6. You must be able to provide an enhanced police clearance certificate to comply with our Safeguarding policy before the potential place is taken up. Our HR team will provide guidance on this.

There are a limited number of places in both Primary and Secondary. It is a requirement for all teachers wishing to embark on initial training to have an interview before being offered a place so please expect this: dates to be confirmed but we are aiming to have these completed by the end of April to allow time to apply to Sunderland. It is important that you have a teaching practice place confirmed before you apply to the University (deadline is approx. 30th June). The school does not undertake to provide funding towards your University costs and there will be an additional charge of SR10,000 for providing the placement/support in the school – this cost will be refunded if you then take a position in the school, in any capacity, once you have completed a 1 year contract. Any courses you may be offered whilst on your placement will also be at your own cost, but they are not compulsory and if you chose not to attend, it would not affect your ability to pass the course.

The PGCE course is very demanding as several components often happen concurrently and time management, good organisation and commitment will be important skills to have. You will:

- have many assignments to complete
- have two teaching practice sessions where you have to plan lessons in great detail, mark work and reflect on your performance

PRINCIPAL: Chris Mantz M.Ed.

- have to gather evidence to demonstrate you have met the required teaching standards; this will require you to be very organised
- be expected to take a full role within the school including duties and staff meetings
- Have regular meetings with your mentor and regular, often weekly, observations during the teaching practice phases.

Applications should be submitted by the end of school on Thursday 16th March and should take the form of a letter to Mr Mantz with your CV attached; these should be copied to Mrs Hunter (chunter@bisr.com.sa) who is the PGCE coordinator. Please address the following questions when composing your letter:

- Why do you want to train as a teacher?
- What is your philosophy for education?
- What skills do you have that would make you a person suited to a teaching career?
- How do you intend to manage the work load?

Please note that if you are currently working in the school as a TA, you will need to take a sabbatical from your post for the full year of the PGCE, as the time you will need for your Teaching Practice cannot be covered and this leaves the school in a difficult position. If you do not secure a teaching position at the end of the course, your TA post will be made available to you once more.

A word of warning, there are two Universities that appear to offer an iPGCE; Sunderland and Nottingham. Only the Sunderland course leads to a teaching qualification – the Nottingham course is a CPD only. Neither course gives direct QTS status however the Sunderland course is sufficient for employment as a teacher in many International schools world wide

If you require any further information, please contact Clare Hunter before the deadline date.
